

Who is Truly Sorry?

These two children were asked to clear the snow from their front porch. They played in the snow instead. One of them was sorry that they didn't complete their chore. Can you tell which one? How do you know?

These boys didn't help clean up their mess. Which one is doing something to "make things right?"

These two children played in the leaves instead of raking them up as their parents asked. Which one is trying not to sin again?
