Right Relationships provides children and young people with a foundation for understanding that human relationships are based on God's unconditional love for us and His desire for each of us to love one another.

All human relationships involve rules and boundaries that help us respect ourselves and each other. By knowing the rules and boundary "signs," children and young people begin to recognize when boundaries are being violated and learn that it's OK say "no" if someone wants them to do something that makes them feel weird, uncomfortable, worried, or scared.

It is never OK for someone to physically abuse or threaten a child or young people or to pressure him/her to engage in physical contact. When this happens, they need to know to tell a trusted adult about it so they can take appropriate action.

If you believe a child has been subjected to abuse and at the time
the abuse is reported:

A) the victim is under age 18, Utah law requires that you contact the Division of Child and Family Services (DCFS).

In Utah,
call 1.800.678.9399

In addition, if the alleged abuser is an employee or volunteer of the diocese or the abuse occurs on diocesan property, call the Diocesan Pastoral Center at 801.328.8641.

B) the victim is 18 or older and the alleged abuser is an employee or volunteer of the diocese, or the abuse occurs on diocesan property, call the Diocesan Pastoral Center at 801.328.8641.
